

18th–19th JUNE 2018
BERLIN, Germany

AIM:

Hamburg

The 2018 World Town Leadership Summit in Berlin/Germany will explore the future roles of urban place management organizations in the smart city movement.

The 2018 Summit will focus on a deeper deliberation into economic development opportunities, the first of the four principles established during the inaugural Summit in Edinburgh, Scotland, the Smart City movement presents. Within the context of Smart Cities, the Summit will identify the role of BIDs and other public private partnership organizations as drivers of economic growth while also exploring finance options to support innovative city building.

Placemaking professionals from 10+ countries are invited to share their experiences and lend their expertise to the deliberations while also experiencing study visits of key projects in Berlin and Hamburg.
